

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely Persian or Arabic, with red ink used for decorative elements and corrections. The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. The script is dense and fluid, with many overlapping characters and frequent use of red ink for initials, corrections, and decorative flourishes. The paper shows signs of age, including yellowing and some staining.

Handwritten text in Arabic script, likely a manuscript page. The text is written in black ink on aged, yellowish paper. The script is dense and appears to be a form of Arabic calligraphy, possibly Nasta'liq or Maghribi. The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. There are several instances of red ink used for decorative purposes, including small dots, lines, and larger flourishes, particularly around the words and at the end of lines. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-used manuscript page.
