Handwritten musical notation on a page, featuring ten staves of music. The notation is written in black ink on aged, yellowed paper. Each staff contains a series of notes and rests, with some notes marked with red accents (possibly slurs or breath marks). The notes are written in a cursive, shorthand style. Below the musical staves, there are several lines of handwritten text in a similar cursive script, interspersed with numbers and symbols. The text appears to be a transcription or commentary related to the music. The overall appearance is that of a historical manuscript or a personal study notebook.

This page contains ten staves of handwritten musical notation. The notation is written in black ink on aged, yellowed paper. Each staff begins with a clef and contains a series of notes, some of which are marked with red arrows pointing to specific notes. The notation is interspersed with various handwritten annotations in black ink, including the letters 'sk', 'ax', 'no', 'm', 'v', and 'e'. Some of these annotations appear to be part of the musical notation, such as 'sk' and 'ax' which might be shorthand for specific notes or rests. The overall appearance is that of a working manuscript or a composer's sketch.

Handwritten musical notation on a page, featuring several staves of music with red and black ink. The notation includes various symbols, including a large red initial 'M' on the left side of the second staff, and several instances of the Greek letter chi (χ) interspersed between the staves. The text is written in a cursive, historical style, likely representing a liturgical or musical manuscript. The notes are written on a five-line staff system, with some notes having stems and flags. The red ink is used for the initial 'M' and some of the notes and symbols, while the black ink is used for the rest of the notation. The paper is aged and shows some staining.

Handwritten musical notation on a page with ten staves. The notation is written in black ink and includes various rhythmic symbols, such as vertical stems with flags and beams. Red ink is used for annotations, including small arrows and numbers (e.g., 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12) placed above or below the notes. The text is written in a cursive, handwritten style, likely representing a musical score or a set of rhythmic exercises. The page shows signs of age, with some staining and discoloration.

Handwritten musical notation on a page, consisting of ten lines of notes and lyrics. The lyrics are variations of the words "na", "lee", and "na". The notation includes various rhythmic values and rests, with some notes marked with red numbers (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7) and arrows indicating specific rhythmic or melodic features. The handwriting is in a cursive style, typical of a personal manuscript or a working draft for a musical score.
