

Reading for Andria:

Measure 6-23:

The person who is going to play the piano II will read or narrate by heart during playing the first paragraph of the text:

“Andria was built so artfully that its every street follows a planet’s orbit, and the buildings and the places of community life repeat the order of the constellations and the position of the most luminous stars:Antares, Alpheratz,Capricorn, the Cepheids. The city’s calendar is so regulated that jobs and offices and ceremonies are arranged in a map corresponding to the firmament on that date: and thus the days on earth and the nights in the sky reflect each other”

Measure 97-101:

The person who will play the piano I during those measures will narrate by heart calmly:

“Each change implies a sequence of other changes, in Andria as among the stars: the city and the sky never remain the same”
